Recommendations

Market strategies adopted in Canada should be analysed and see if it can be implemented in other countries with low sales.

More discounted promo during the slack periods, most especially in February, August and October. Also, promo in regions with low sales like USA and France.

Market presence should be strengthened through strategic marketing campaigns and especially in areas with low sales as stated above.

NovaMed should place greater emphasis on collaborative partnerships with hospitals and other health agencies

Market research should be conducted to understand the “User category” needs. Also, affordability should be improved for this category.

Inventory levels of top performing drugs should be increased while that of the low performing drugs should be monitored closely and carefully to avoid excess stock , expiry and financial loss.

Customer engagement; Loyalty perks to reward performance should be put in place for top performing customers. Market research should also be conducted for low performing customers to understand reasons for low purchase.
